

2012 Becoming An Outdoors Woman Program

June 8 - 10 at Lorado Taft Field Campus, Oregon, IL
Sept. 28 - 30 at Pere Marquette State Park, Grafton, IL

The Illinois Department of Natural Resources invites you to join women from all over Illinois for a weekend full of adventurous outdoor activities. Try your hand at charting a course, calling a bird, shooting a bow, firing a shot, tying a fly, catching a fish, paddling a canoe, or building a campfire. Program instructors provide a supportive, safe, non-threatening and non-competitive learning environment.

Becoming An Outdoors Woman (BOW) is a program designed to give woman introductory experiences and instruction in various outdoor activities. Activities range from the shooting sports to outdoor recreation to nature crafts and skills. Program instructors emphasize the basics in instruction while providing information on equipment, associated clubs and/or organizations, and additional training opportunities.
